This document describes some terms that may appear in the Alchemy AOE Guild Charter:

- AOE2 – Age of Empires II: Definitive Edition
- AOE – The Age of Empires franchise, with particular interest in AOE2
- Alchemy – The Alchemy Age of Empires Guild
- Guild/Clan – Used interchangeably referring to a group of people who work together to create content, in this case pertaining to Age of Empires
- Content – Anything useful for entertainment that meets at least one of the following criteria:
  - Upload of pre-recorded or live-streamed video to the internet
  - Creation of mods, random-map-scripts, scenarios, guides, tools, etc.
  - Taking part in competitions (not simply playing with friends)
- Competition – Any event that meets at least one of the following criteria:
  - Prizes may be awarded to any team in the event on account of performance, including money or the opportunity to participate in another event
  - The games are to be used for content creation on a platform such as Twitch or Youtube (regardless of the producer, anticipated viewership, or duration of content's visibility)
- Discord Server – An online or desktop application that uses the internet to coordinate discussions between individuals from across the world. Discord is a company that allows such servers to be created and maintained freely, making it the go-to for most gaming applications
- Community – Group of persons belonging to the Alchemy AOE Discord Server
- Role – A set of permissions granted in a Discord server that allow visibility or read/write access to conversations with other people who bear the same role. Permission-altering roles are denoted with "curly brackets {Role}"
- Member – An individual bearing the "Provisional Member" or "Member" role in the server
- Protected Class – Any of the following characteristics: Race, Religion, Birthplace, Age, Sex/Sexual Preference, Pregnancy, Familial Status, Disability, Veteran Status, or Genetic Information.
- Charter Change Order (CCO) – A memorandum providing clear definition, reason, and justification for any changes to the charter. These documents are written such that it is possible to reproduce the previous revision from the current version and the change order.
